Business Summary

Founded in 1983, this Colorado full-service excavation company has an outstanding reputation, loyal customer base and skilled staff. Housing demand remains exceptionally high. The business is on a trajectory to return to its earlier results as interest rates decrease and homes become more affordable. The Company provides a full array of excavation and utility services for both residential and commercial sites. Servicing their geographical area for over 43 years, the Company has become the go-to resource for the area's robust construction growth.

The Company has a redundant heavy equipment inventory that includes multiple loaders, excavators, trucks, and related attachments. The current equipment is sufficient to support over 20% growth.

The founder/owner would like to retire and will stay on for a transitional period. There are multiple areas identified for expansion for a buyer that brings ambition and energy.
